A residency at Leith Hill Place with the National Trust & Surrey Hills Arts

Surrey Hills Arts in partnership with the National Trust are looking for a dynamic and socially engaged, emerging artist for a residency at Leith Hill Place for 3 months between July-September 2026. We are open to any artform, for example a performing artist, visual artist, filmmaker or writer. We are interested in work that relates to the history or geology of the surrounding landscape with the option to take inspiration from the rich heritage of the house itself.

The residency will be an opportunity for you to develop work and explore connections across the site with support from the host organisations. There will also be opportunities to engage the community in the work.

The National Trust is Europe's biggest conservation charity. It looks after nature, beauty and history for everyone to enjoy and works to tackle climate change, protect historic sites and help people and nature thrive. Leith Hill Place is situated on the southerly slopes of Leith Hill with spectacular views over the Weald as far as the South Downs. The grounds, including the special Rhododendron Woods, planted by Caroline Wedgwood (nee Darwin) are of note, with many rare and old specimens and unusual trees. There are evocative ponds and streams that tumble off the hill. It was the childhood home of Ralph Vaughan Williams, English composer who was inspired by the flora, fauna, and landscape that he used to walk and cycle round as a young man. More recently, as a boys' boarding house for Hurtwood House school, as a relaxed home from home environment – one of the boarders was none other than Hans Zimmer.

Surrey Hills Arts' mission is to connect people to the Surrey Hills through an imaginative arts programme, meaningful engagement and developing our creative community. We deliver contemporary arts projects that proactively build diverse audiences that connect to the history, geology, and characteristics of the landscape, and advocate positive action and a greater understanding to environmental challenges through direct engagement in community settings. We work in partnership to develop arts-led opportunities that achieve positive health, education and social outcomes and develop local artists of all art forms in creating work related to this National Landscape.

What the residency offers

Space - A bare room on the 1st floor with large window overlooking a northerly view up the paddock towards the Rhododendron Woods and Leith Hill is the usual space, with an alternative that may be used instead. There is a bathroom next door with capability to wash brushes or larger items. Please note, due to Leith Hill Place being a heritage building, there are restrictions around the use of chemicals and some organic materials and no hot works. There is a break-out space to make drinks. The space can be accessed on Wednesday, Friday and weekend days. With prior agreement with NT staff, Tuesdays and Thursdays may also be possible. Parking is available over the road from Leith Hill Place.

Stipend for the 3 month residency : £1000

Regular support including coaching and mentoring sessions from the Surrey Hills Arts team.

A supportive relationship throughout the residency with the Visitor Operations and Experiences Manager at Leith Hill Place who will provide history and reasoning around the brief, landscape and natural history information.

Promotion of your work in our newsletters and social media.

Potential opportunities to showcase your work as part of the National Trust or Surrey Hills National Landscape programmes.

Your commitment

To be resident at Leith Hill Place 2-3 days a week.

To create site-specific work as a development of your practice.

Open studio on 3 weekend days agreed with the Visitor Operations and Experiences Manager. We would welcome an engagement activity with visitors as part of these days.

Opportunities for a residency showcase may be available at the end of the residency, even if it is to show the workings of the 3 month enquiry without a finished piece.

Key dates

Deadline for applications: Friday 17th April

Interview day: 28th April at Leith Hill Place

Residency start date: w/c 6th July

Residency end date: 25th September (potential for residency showcase 4th October, following a discussion with Visitor Operations and Experiences Manager, LHP.)
